Dr. Beat Richner

Beatocello's Umbrella

a film by Georges Gachot

In BEATOCELLO'S UMBRELLA, award-winning director Georges Gachot tells the inspiring story of Beat Richner – pediatric M.D., author, illustrator and concert cellist; from his coming-of-age in Switzerland, to his street performances as a young medical student in the persona of the clown Beatocello; to the founding of his five KANTHA BOPHA children's hospitals in today's Cambodia. Revered as a national hero, Richner's Herculean efforts have saved the lives of millions of Cambodia's children over the past 20 years. Now at 64, Richner has come to symbolize the health and hope he brought to a grateful nation.

With participation of King Norodom Sihamoni
